What does Telemedicine look like?

Persons served will have an appointment scheduled with one of our psychiatrists at your local Northern Lakes office.

Our nursing staff will check you in, obtain your weight, blood pressure, and pulse. They will speak with you about any questions or concerns you may have regarding your physical or mental health.

You will then be escorted to your psychiatrist's office for a private video session with the psychiatrist. The psychiatrist will be in contact with our nursing staff to assist with your care.

Your psychiatrist will see you, speak with you, refer to your health records, collaborate with your other health care providers, provide care and, if necessary, prescribe medications.

Common Questions

Is this being recorded?

No. NLCMHA uses a private and secured internet connection and your session is never recorded.

Who can I bring along?

Anyone you wish! We encourage you bring any natural supports such as your family, friends, guardian (if applicable) or others, including other NLCMHA staff involved in your care.

What technology do you use?

We use specialized, high-definition Microsoft technology, similar to Skype that may be familiar to you.

Will I ever see my psychiatrist in person?

NLCMHA aims to use a mix of both local psychiatrists providing in-person care complemented with telemedicine visits. Some of our offices use telemedicine more frequently than others.

Whom to call with other questions

If you have any other question, please call any office. Front office staff will be able to assist you or link to Psychiatric Service staff if needed.

Telemedicine at NLCMHA

Telemedicine is where trained health professionals use audio-video calls through a secure and private internet connection to meet with people who need health care.

Telemedicine has become an important tool to increase access to quality health care, including mental health care, especially for those who live in underserved and rural areas.

The Northern Lakes telemedicine program was carefully built. We researched other programs and spoke with expert professionals and consumers.

Improved Quality

Studies have consistently shown that the quality of health care services delivered via telemedicine are as good as those given in traditional in-person consultations.
